Crafty little sew-and-sews!

Class 3 children have been designing and making their own space themed storage pouches. Using skills honed during the commemorative tapestry project last year, they showed off their running and cross-stitch ability in their finished pieces. We think they look out of this world!

Staffing Update

Class 1 teaching assistant Hilary Walker has kindly agreed to stay on for the first half of the autumn term, delaying her retirement. With new teacher Abi Flashman starting in September, we just wanted to minimise the amount of change taking place at the same time in that class.

Sports Evening Notification

The PSA will be serving food and soft drinks immediately following the races. Food options will include pork and vegan sausage rolls and chilli nachos and cheese (both meat and vegetarian).

With so many families attending, including grandparents and older siblings, parking is often problematic. To reduce the risk of blocking the road outside the school, there will be cordoned parking on the school field for Class 2 families. For all other families, please use the village hall car park or another location in the village and walk the remaining distance. It is important we don't block the road to Methereil so the bus or emergency vehicles can't get through. Thank you in anticipation of your support.

Achieve Believe Enjoy

Thank you to all those who have successfully grown plants from the seeds sent home. We have had lots of healthy plants brought in, which are now starting to make our raised beds look a little more like a garden. Here, Tom and Penny plant the Cosmos they grew at home, supported by Adhamh. If you have any more plants, please send them in when ready. The Parent Staff Association generously donated £1,000 towards the wellbeing garden. This money is going to be used to buy some sundry items, such as tree stakes, but also to purchase some specimen plants that will finish our planting for this season.

Road Safety

We have been made aware of a few near misses in and around the village hall car park recently. We know how busy this area gets during the school run, but politely remind both drivers and pedestrians to take the utmost care to keep our school community safe.

Class 3 children have been creating their own explanation texts in English lessons. We thought you might like this well written example by Annabelle, although we will leave you to decide how accurate it is!

The Truth About Teachers

Things To Know About Teachers

A teacher has very confusing, intelligent hobbies, such as going to strange places. However, there are many more secrets to a teacher. No teacher is a gentle, caring person, despite their kind appearance. What is the truth about teachers? Read on to find out.

Where do teachers go on holiday?

Teachers have a misunderstood hobby of going to lovely, extraordinary places while not at school, like fabulous France (as well as Mexico, China and Kenya). One teacher even went to spectacular Spain for one month and left the students to their horrible headmaster who is as tall as a mature oak tree. A teacher will even go on holiday when it is their favourite child's birthday. Can you even imagine such a horrible, disgusting thing?

Where do teachers live?

Most teachers like to live in clean, spotless houses away from dirty, little children. Inside their homes it is generally dark, wooden furniture. Teachers bedrooms are as wide as an elephant's stable with a bed like soft, fluffy snow. Their bedrooms are usually placed beside their kitchens, just in case they get hungry in the night.

What do teachers look like?

Teachers normally look ordinary but they have different insides. Inside their brain is horrendous. They have treacherous thoughts such as all children being terrible, nasty humans, which is an immense, huge lie. This untrue lie makes them look like ugly ducklings. A teacher's clothes generally have tidy, neat ties and boring, grey trousers. A teacher's eyes are ruby red with black, obsidian pupils to scare the student to death. Finally, a teacher's skin must be rough and freckly to amaze the students.

Final facts

Teachers need food, like other humans but not just normal food. Unlike the food normal kind people eat, teacher's need freshly baked cookies. These cookies will soften their grumpy, miserable hearts so they don't explode on the super, intelligent students.
